

Dear Admissions Committee,

My name is Anastasia, and I have worked in the public health sector in Greece for over 37 years. I began my career at the Amalia Fleming Hospital and later moved to the General Hospital of Korinthos, where I have worked in departments such as internal medicine, cardiology, and pediatrics. In recent years, I transitioned into administrative work. I am currently responsible for organizing training sessions for hospital staff — focusing on transparency, integrity, and preventing corruption — and I also support colleagues through mentoring.

Over the years, I have seen many changes in healthcare, but also many areas that still need improvement. I believe that digital transformation can help us face many of the challenges we have in public health today. Tools like electronic records, telemedicine, and better use of data can make healthcare faster, more accurate, and more accessible — both for patients and professionals.

I am especially interested in the ManagiDiTH program because it combines digital technologies with healthcare and management. I think this is exactly what we need in today's world, and I am excited by the chance to learn more about how these areas connect. I would like to understand how digital solutions can improve hospital administration, training processes, and overall service quality.

After completing the program, my goal is to help introduce digital changes in my hospital and in the wider health system. I want to be part of the effort to modernize healthcare, and I believe that with the right knowledge and tools, we can improve both the experience of patients and the working conditions of staff.

Thank you for considering my application. I am really looking forward to the opportunity to join this program and to take the next step in my professional journey.

Sincerely,

Anastasia Alonistioti
