

Dear members of the Admissions Committee,

I do not possess a valid English Language certificate, but I have long ago completed the IELTS which is only valid for two years. Even so, please consider that in my Transcript of academic records it is included English, and that during my PhD I have written articles published in English language journals such as in MDPI Sensors and have presented papers in several International Conferences such as Centeris. Additionally, I have am currently working at a multinational corporation, Forvia, where I often have to interact with people from different countries such as France, Korea and even Nepal, so it is possible to conclude that I have a high proficiency with the English language.

Notwithstanding, bellow is listed some of my published work for your appreciation:

- IoT-Based Systems for Soil Nutrients Assessment in Horticulture
- Contributions to the design of mobile applications for visitors of Botanical Gardens
